Sir,

I beg to enclose herewith a copy of the memorial submitted to His Highness the Maharaja praying to give me a start in life and beg to request that you may be pleased to lend your kind support to it and to see me get a decent start suitable to my qualifications.

Praying to be excused for this intrusion on your valuable time,

I beg to remain,

Copy of the Memorial to His Highness the Maharaja

To

His Highness Sri Krishnaraja
Wodiyar Bahadur G.C.S.I.
Maharaja of Mysore

May it please your Highness,

I, the undersigned M. Viraraja Urs, most humbly beg to submit the following for your Highness's gracious consideration and orders:

I belong to Maralluru, came here for study and was taken to the Arsu Boarding School as a boarder in 1897. I have been the recipient of your Highness's bounty since then and have managed to pass the B.A. Degree examination of the Madras University. I need not dilate on all the facilities that were afforded to me during my scholastic career, for it is no exaggeration when I say that, but for such help, I should perhaps never have had the benefits of English education.

Having now passed the B. L. examinat it is now my pleasant duty to place my whole services at your Highness's disposal for being utilised in such manner as your Highness may graciously deem suitable.

Tendering my most humble and grateful thanks to Your Highness for all the Kindnesses which I have so far received and awaiting your Highness's most gracious Commands,

I most humbly beg to remain Your Highness's most loyal, obedient and humble servant and subject, (Sd) M. Viraraja Urs.

Noble Revenge

A young officer had so far forgotten himself, in a moment of irritation, as to strike a private soldier, full of personal dignity, and distinguished for his courage. The inexorable laws of military discipline forbade to the injured soldier any redress, — he could look for no retaliation by acts. Words only were at his command, and in a tumult of indignation, as he turned away, the soldier said to his officer that he would "make him repent it!"

This, wearing the shape of a menace, naturally rekindled the officer's anger, and intercepted any disposition which might be rising within him toward a sentiment of remorse; and the irritation between the two young men grew hotter than before.
